What are the most important things that you learned in this course? Please reflect on the knowledge and skills you gained.

Comments
how to talk about literature
Critical thinking and critical analysis of texts.
Intensive study of tragedies
I mainly learned about how to read tragedy. I wouldn't say I developed many skills, but I enjoyed the class.
Tragedy: Oresteia, Antigone, Medea, Thyestes, The Birth of Tragedy, Titus Andronicus, Tragedy of King Christophe

Describe how aspects of this course (lectures, discussions, labs, assignments, etc.) contributed to your learning.

Comments
good
The in–class discussions were great to see different point of views and see how people interpret different pieces of text! It heightes the ability to think critically of texts and form an opinion based on that.
the class discussions
I liked the pre–class preparations because they made me think more about the text so I would be prepared for class.
The discussions are helpful and the materials are interesting. Watching Antigone at the Court Theatre and film adaptation of other tragedies also provides more aspects to discuss about the plays.

Additional comments about the course:

Comments
Because the class is so small, I think the experience is very dependent on the other students in the class.

I would recommend this course to:

	No	Yes
Highly-motivated and well-prepared students	0.00%	100.00%
Anyone interested in the topic	33.33%	66.67%

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
discussions
During class, the questions the instructor introduced sparked different opinions and ideas about certain topics that led to great discussions.
His clear organization of the conversations
The instructor helped prepare questions for discussions.
The instructor organize everyone's discussion post into categories and allow the discussion to be focused.

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

Comments
To be honest, the course doesn't need to be modified.
He could give his own opinion/ challenge students
I wish the instructor were more active in the discussions.

Comments
This class is not difficult if the effort is put into reading or learning about the texts we are discussing during class. For bigger assignments such as papers, the same applies. Put in effort by requesting help during writing seminars and office hours and the grades will be good.
doable just a lot of reading
not difficult
No Greece and Rome experience before college, very manageable difficulty. Having Shakespeare experiences so reading Shakespeare is not hard at all.
