What are the most important things that you learned in this course? Please reflect on the knowledge and skills you gained.

Comments
How to connect key concepts within the readings to important overarching themes and arguments not only within the specific text but other ones that we have read.
Examining relationships between socially created distinct groups and their subjugation to one another.
We learned about modern-day conflicts with power in society and how these conflicts have suppressed minority groups.

Describe how aspects of this course (lectures, discussions, labs, assignments, etc.) contributed to your learning.

Comments
The discussion in class was paramount towards overall understanding of the texts and my formulations of my theses. Professor Mondragon does an excellent job of guiding discussion while also allowing students to state their views and clarify them.
The seminars really helped understand the texts more.
Class discussions were the most helpful. I enjoyed having a smaller class as class time felt more like an actual discussion rather than people participating solely for credit.

Great!
This quarter of power is much different from previous quarters. There are many more sociology/philosophy texts rather than political theories.

I would recommend this course to:

	No	Yes
Highly-motivated and well-prepared students	0.00%	100.00%
Anyone interested in the topic	0.00%	100.00%

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
Her discussions.
She created an environment where it was easy to ask questions and hold discussions about the text. Prepared good plans for discussions.
I enjoyed being able to share our questions about the text. It made discussion more conforming to what we found interesting. I also appreciated how Professor Mondragon allowed us to focus on specific topics rather than cover every detail mentioned. It made class feel much more personal and focused on the topics that were interesting or confusing to us.

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

Comments
Nothing, amazing job!
If discussion posts could be more incorporated into class discussion it would make them feel more valuable. I also wish the writing workshops were required, it wasn't clear on how those should be dealt with.

Comments
not difficult as long as you do the readings
Easiest texts compared to past ones but still reading heavy.
The texts were much more enjoyable and relatable than previous quarters.
