Comments
We read about a ton of different topics including psychoanalysis, religion, race, and gender.
Durkheim, Freud, Beauviour second sex , Levi Strauss, Fanon black skin white masks (the whole book :>) Fanon wretched of the Earth , Ohnuki–Tierney's kamikaze cherry blossoms and nationalism
I learned so much about a vast majority of authors – anything you cant talk about at a table.

Describe how aspects of this course (lectures, discussions, labs, assignments, etc.) contributed to your learning.

Comments
The discussions were super interesting and I really liked how Molina gave context at the beginning of each class.
Lectures were very informative although the Prof did not facilitate too much discussion to begin with it did get better
I really loved the discussion–based aspect of this course, and I felt that I left the class with not only a strong understanding of the texts that we read, but also new perspectives on how those texts were relevant to current events.

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
He does a really good job at facilitating discussions and building off of everyone's arguments!
Prof. Molina's comprehension of the texts and easy-to-follow lecture style helped me grasp the main ideas of each text.
he was very knowledgeable about the text—you could ask him almost anything related to the text or authors and he would have an answer.

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?
