What are the most important things that you learned in this course? Please reflect on the knowledge and skills you gained.

Comments
how the human experience shapes economics, not just math.
Society, understanding how everything created all the ideas of this philosophers in the economy that are still relevant. This course helped me understand society differently, apply their ideas into my life and giving it purpose. My writing and understanding in books grew and developed.
Breaking down complex readings

Describe how aspects of this course (lectures, discussions, labs, assignments, etc.) contributed to your learning.

Comments
Discussions and reflections each week. The discussions were amazing, having different perspectives and points of view allow me to see some things differently, challenging my own ideas and have a final opinion on the book, the reflections helped me use the readings in my life and give real life examples. Professor Henderson is the best, allowed everyone's opinion and really make a good setting for all of us to feel comfortable with each other. Love working in pairs as well (for some readings only)
Discussions and occasional brief lectures introduced and explained the content well
We had readings and corresponding canvas discussion posts twice every week. Two papers and a final critic paper in which we reviewed our discussion posts.

Professor Henderson is very understanding, they will explain everything that you have a doubt on, if you talk with them, they will help you. Amazing class.
Professor Henderson is great but I feel feedback can be a little unclear at times and the assignments can be a little unclear too at times. Outside of those complaints Professor Henderson is a great professor that leads a very interesting class

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
Discussions and time to share our understandings and challenge each other with ideas, really loved how they allowed and value all of our examples and perspectives, not undermining anyone's opinion.
Taking time to break down dense reading
Real understanding and a fair grader, I often did better than I thought.

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

Comments
No prior background experience besides AP Literature and still could manage every class and discussion. Some books were harder than others but if you really would pay attention, they are really interesting.
The readings are hard and they are very dense but they are interesting and discussions in class are usually very interesting as well
I took PATH as my hum and had to get used to doing much longer and denser readings every week.
