What are the most important things that you learned in this course? Please reflect on the knowledge and skills you gained.

Comments
How to contextualize deep readings of text into cohesive papers.
How the mind works
The big lecture
How our minds are able to interpret the world through several different lenses
How the mind works
how to connect a wide variety of information about the mind and the processes it undergoes to construct reality
How the mind goes beyond the information given.
How the mind constructs reality and how it makes errors
I learned about the ways our mind perceives and constructs reality.

Describe how aspects of this course (lectures, discussions, labs, assignments, etc.) contributed to your learning.

Comments
Facilitated active thinking
the lecture is very amazing
I learned how to come up with my own questions from readings and apply what was discussed into my papers
Discussions were very helpful in understanding the focus of each lecture the lectures were always on interesting topics and built upon each other to create a cohesive understanding of how the mind constructs reality
The lectures give insight into what physiology is about.
Lectures were helpful in describing the mechanisms behind the readings and the overall themes of the course.
The lectures and discussions were both very fun and interesting because of how practical the information and topics were. The examples were also very engaging.

Additional comments about the course:

Comments
Good
Love Rockwood! Very nice and also drives the class discussion.
Do the readings so get an idea of what your final paper is going to be about. She tends to not release the grades for the discussion posts. I didn't have feedback available to further improve my post. However, she is available when reaching out and is good at summarizing viewpoints given in discussion.

I would recommend this course to:

	No	Yes
Highly-motivated and well-prepared students	0.00%	100.00%
Anyone interested in the topic	0.00%	100.00%

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
Lead our discussion
She guided our engaging discussions well, making me think about the week's topic more in depth
During discussion time, she would give further clarification to the lecture given in the week and how previous lectures connect to each other.
Asking questions about the readings and having us split into small groups
Professor Rockwood was a great prof who made discussions fun and was very flexible when it came to course work.

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

Comments
Grading the assignments we do in a timely manner, so we can receive the feedback and improve.
Release grades on time and provide feedback.
Perhaps giving us feedback on the discussion papers
She was great, no complaints at all.

quite easy
appropriate
I had no prior experience to social sciences, but this course was very manageable (there are a lot of readings, but it's ultimately not too bad)
