Learning to find studies related to the weeks material
Our behavior is highly context dependent
How to succinctly write and understand key elements of readings to respond to How to write. Honestly the core is not meant for learning.
the mind in context
Different theories about the development of mind and how environment and interaction with people shape our mind and our behaviors in daily life
We discussed universality vs. cultural specificity, self-construals, nature vs. nurture.
How our environment and society effects our psychological processes. I also learned how to effectively research social science topics and write a review paper on a topic.

Weekly readings
Lectures were ok; some were interesting but some dragged on discussions were helpful to understand content and debrief it readings presented ideas, discussion fleshed the ideas out
The lectures is very comprehensive on a specific topic; the discussions further address the real life implications and probing questions that extend from the lectures Discussions were great to really understand what the readings were saying and how they and the lecture connected.
Lecture was extremely interesting in providing context to the topic, readings provided interesting studies to consider, and discussion was a great way to solidify my understanding of the topic and hear others' viewpoints.

Weekly discussion very insightful
Professor Lembo was amazing, could not recommend her more. She made sure we understood the material and facilitated discussions that were engaging and stimulating.
My teacher is very approachable during office hours and provide sufficient feedback for assignment. She was also clear about the standards and provide the tools for us to succeed. Her facilitation on the discussion session was very informative.
Professor Lembo was great! She organized discussions very well, her directions were very clear, and she was great at giving feedback. She's also very accessible.
Prof. Lembo organized discussions extremely well and made sure that we stayed focused and had time to explore the interesting parts of each week's lecture! I also really liked how she reviewed the concepts of the week at the beginning of discussion to make sure we all understood it.
Dr Lembo is the best at facilitating discussion!
she created a comfortable welcoming space for discussion and asking questions

Comments
Easy as long as you hand in assignments on time. Do not submit assignments late.
Very chill option for SOSC requirement
no prior psych experience, the class was still very doable.
The course is not hard as long as you put in the effort, but also it really depends on your instructor
This course was similar to the other two in the mind sequence. It was a bit more work given that we had to do some research as well but it was still very interesting and not too challenging.
