I learned the history of the discussions revolved around gender and sexuality.
Gender is socially constructed the definition of sex is also influenced by social ideas of biology. I think this class taught me to look at the world through a different lens because gender is so pervasive in so many areas.
I learned a lot about how gender has been viewed through history, and I was exposed to a more global selection of perspectives than I had been previously.
I thought this course took an interesting and expansive look at the concept of gender. I thought I had a definition of the concept at the beginning, but the course showed me that there are many ways in which to define the term, live the concept, and evaluate gender that have changed over time.

lectures and discussions were super helpful. I felt extremely included and encouraged to participate
I loved the blog post assignments that replaced essays, they allowed me to think more critically about things I see all the time and take time to examine them further.
Class discussions helped a lot to facilitate better understanding of the themes of the course, and the main assignments outside of class, the blogs and podcast, helped to approach the subjects of the course in a different way than usual.
I enjoyed working outside of class with my learning group to prepare materials for each class. The in–class discussion helped me gain better understanding of the readings that were only furthered by the blog and podcast projects which allowed me to explore these concepts in real world applications.

I wish we our work on the blog posts had been graded and given feedback before the second post (or extra credit post) was due. I was unsure exactly how I was performing in these areas.

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
The discussions were intertwined with lectures Dr. Johansen prepared for us.
I think the collaborative learning style helped a lot in being able to contribute to class in multiple ways and get to know my classmates better
Professor Johansen was phenomenal. The way she facilitated discussions made the class such a joy to be in. 1000/10
Dr. Johansen was incredibly helpful to learn the course materials and think beyond just the readings, into questions of textuality and applying a critical lens to sources.
I really enjoyed the well thought out lectures and discussions during class time. These were very informative and greatly expanded my understanding of the material.

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

It is very manageable. Prof. makes all assignments super fun!
It's a lot of work but very accessible to people of all backgrounds.
Not super difficult class, not having to write formal essays definitely contributed, but there is a bit more menial work than is usual in my other core classes
