Entering the class, I expected to learn about acting techniques, stage design, and script analysis. However, I didn't anticipate that theater would become a lens for introspection.
How to connect actions, how to indulge in self–progress, and how to create a great final project.
I learned how acting isn't just going on stage and saying words, but a complex work of art involving a multitude of skills involving body movement, tone, repetition etc.

Describe how aspects of this course (lectures, discussions, labs, assignments, etc.) contributed to your learning.

Comments
The exercises allowed me to grow comfortable throughout the course.
Classes were exceptional –– Gabriel facilitated such a safe space, and the warm–ups were extremely enjoyable, as well as his teaching methods.
The assignments each week helped me reflect on my experience during class. The assignments and readings were a fantastic addition as they helped me better understand some of the new learned ideas I took home each week.

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
Kindness and emotional intelligence
The discussion posts and their responses — resources were easy to find, and the discussion posts themselves helped me discover new things about myself !
Inclusivity
The instructors feedback was best thing that contributed to my learning. Professor Pasculli's experience mixed with his professionalism was amazing to witness during these feedback sessions.

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?
