What are the most important things that you learned in this course? Please reflect on the knowledge and skills you gained.

Comments
Learned about the mind in context, how to review scientific papers, and how to have seminar style discussions.
How social forces influence our mind and how it develops.
Application of psychology to the social world
How the mind can be viewed in different context, how we respond differently in different situataions

Describe how aspects of this course (lectures, discussions, labs, assignments, etc.) contributed to your learning.

Comments
Lectures and discussion section mostly contributed to my learning.
Lectures and readings taught me a lot. Discussion helped to guide thinking of those concepts.
Lectures presented a broad overview of the week's topics, and in discussion we were able to go more in depth
Lecture introduced interesting ideas/topics and in discussion we delved into what was brought up in lecture and went beyond

Very nice end to the sequence, Mind III was by far the hardest of the three though, although still not hard.
If you are a psychology major don't take Mind, it's often a repeat of what the psychology major breadth classes teach you, go explore something else. It's a fun class, but it doesn't into any depth for any of the topics of each week.
Mind was a great course overall, super interesting topics, and engaging in discussion was very rewarding and piqued my curiosity.

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

Comments
I think the discussion sections contributed most to my learning.
Feedback on assignments and facilitating discusions
Leading discussion, asking questions

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

Comments
I think the system of lecture attendance checks could be changed slightly as the lecture attendance quizzes were a bit arbitrary and unnecessarily stressful.

Please comment on the level of difficulty of the course relative to your background and experience.

Comments
The level of difficulty for Mind is heavily professor dependent.
Not too hard, really enjoyed the mind sequence in general.
Psychology major, this class was very easy
Weekly discussion papers take some time to think through and write, but very doable mind was an overall light sosc that was actually still very interesting. mind III was probably the hardest just because our final paper was 10 pages rather than 5, but it's still not bad because it's a review paper
