How to speak about more challenging topics in Spanish
You go really in depth on the subjunctive tenses. This is the last class where you learn new grammar structures so everything you learn is very specific and made for special cases of grammar. It's very helpful for actually speaking Spanish and not being super formal.
Spanish grammar and conversational skills
I learned how to better share my opinions and views on complex social concepts in Spanish.

in class practice examples
Lectures are the most important. Prof. Moraga challenges you to speak and read difficult texts which helps you make the connections you need to better work with the language.
Class discussions were extremely helpful to build confidence speaking Spanish and practice grammar
Discussions in class facilitated practicing the language. Also the talkabroads were very good for speaking practice as well

Thinking about your time in the class, what aspect of the instructor's teaching contributed most to your learning?

| Comments |
| Providing many examples and giving clear corrections |
| Prof. Moraga was beyond helpful during the oral exams! You get to speak with her one–on–one and understand your strong suits better. She's so nice and fun to talk to, she makes class feel more like a conversation than a lecture!! |
| Guided discussions and the variety of assignments she assigned (speaking assignments through TalkAbroad, grammar homework, presentations, oral and audio exams, etc.) |
| Encouraged discussion and taught very thoroughly |

What could the instructor modify to help you learn more?

Super easy! If you already have good skills in Spanish, you are literally set. It's a good amount of work, but so easy that you could do it literally in 10 minutes.
Appropriate/only slightly challenging (I took AP Spanish 2 years ago but nothing since); overall, very manageable
Not bad
Should have been easy, professor grades a little hard
